Applicants who have submitted their applications for the Havaldar position within CBIC and CBN as part of the SSC MTS selection procedure will need to participate in a Physical Efficiency Test (PET) following their successful completion of SSC MTS CBE. This Physical Efficiency Test (PET) is designed to assess the physical preparedness of candidates for the specified role and is compulsory for both male and female applicants. The details of the PET and PST are provided below:

Physical Efficiency Test (PET)

As the name suggests, it is a test to check the fitness level of the candidates who have cleared the Computer Based Examination and have even qualified for the PST. Let us understand these in detail.

Firstly, for Male Candidates, the PET includes the following test:

- 1600 meters in 15 minutes

Secondly, for Female Candidates, the PET includes the following test:

- 1 kilometer in 20 minutes

Moreover, if you are 12 weeks pregnant at the time of the PET test, then you will be declared temporarily unfit for examination. Your vacancy will however be secured for you, and you will be re-examined after six weeks from the date of delivery, or so if you provide a medical certificate of fitness from a registered medical professional (doctor).

Physical Standard Test (PST)

The PST can even be categorized as an eligibility criterion since it has standard requirements for the following:
