Assumptions: I. The 'Mobile Handheld Device' will enable FI customers, especially those in remote or underserved areas, to access banking services more easily, thereby promoting financial inclusion. II. The introduction of the 'Mobile Handheld Device' will eliminate the need for traditional brick-and-mortar bank branches, leading to the closure of physical bank locations.

Difficulty : Moderate

Average Time : 49 Seconds

Analytical Reasoning Questions Options

1. Both assumptions I and II follow
2. Only II follows
3. Only I follows
4. Neither I nor II follows
5. Either I or II follows

Analytical Reasoning Questions Solution

The correct answer is Option 3 i.e. Only I follows

I. The 'Mobile Handheld Device' will enable FI customers, especially those in remote or underserved areas, to access banking services more easily, thereby promoting financial inclusion. Follows (This assumption logically follows from the statement. The statement discusses the introduction of the 'Mobile Handheld Device' to enhance accessibility and convenience for Financial Inclusion (FI) customers. It's reasonable to assume that the introduction of such a device aims to make banking services more accessible, especially for customers in remote or underserved areas, and thus promote financial inclusion.)

II. The introduction of the 'Mobile Handheld Device' will eliminate the need for traditional brick-and-mortar bank branches, leading to the closure of physical bank locations. Doesn't follow (This assumption doesn't follow from the statement. While the statement talks about introducing the 'Mobile Handheld Device' to enhance accessibility and convenience, it doesn't provide information suggesting that this introduction will lead to the closure of traditional brick-and-mortar bank branches. The two actions are not necessarily mutually exclusive; banks often use digital innovations to complement their physical branch networks rather than replacing them entirely.)

Hence, the correct answer is Only I follows.
