Choose the correct statement?

Difficulty : Moderate

Average Time : 79 Seconds

Arrangement And Pattern Questions Options

1. D sits at south east corner of the square table.
2. D sits at south west corner of the square table
3. H sits at north east corner of the table
4. All of the above
5. None of the above

Arrangement And Pattern Questions Solution

The correct answer is Option 2 i.e D sits at the southwest corner of the square table

Understanding	Application
---------------	-------------

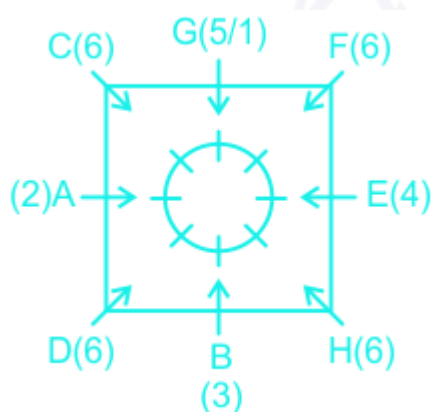

Start arranging the information from the starting sentence i.e A is the second left of B and gets an even number.

Look for the major information such as C gets 6 (C is the first one to get a 6) so C sits at the northwest corner of the square table.

H is the third person to get a 6 hence H sits at the third corner of the square table (clockwise direction).

B gets half the number of H i.e 3.

D sits southwest corner(last corner) from the clockwise direction. thus, F sits at the second corner (northwest).

It is clearly mentioned in the given data that D sits at the southwest corner of the square table and it can also be seen in the given diagram.
